AURANGABAD: Taking a step towards becoming 'smart', the civic body on Tuesday launched a mobile app to facilitate online payment of property tax and other charges. The application will also help the users to lodge complaints and track its status besides other facilities.

Abdul Bari, system manager in Aurangabad Municipal Corporation, told TOI that the application is part of the e-governance initiative of the civic body.

"The AMC has launched the mobile application for cashless payment of property tax and water tax charges. The city was recently selected for the union government's smart city scheme wherein it was compulsory on our part to introduce online facilities," he said.

To avail the facility, the citizens will have to visit 'google play store' on their mobile phone and install the 'e municipality' application. The user will have to complete a registration process to activate it.

The citizens may pay online payment of property tax, search details of birth, death and marriage registrations, he said.
